

Just an update regarding COVID-19 and MTC: courses are still being offered and people are being prepared for God's mission. Many are accessing the online courses and being even more well trained to reach into their community with the Good News found in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. And though MTC seems to be known for training Licensed Lay Deacons, MTC is very interested in helping anyone be those voices of hope and peace as people serve their Lord in ministry in the church, in the community, and wherever they are placed or run into those opportunities. It could be at Walmart, Target, the grocery store, taking a walk, with a neighbor – seems there is always a chance to share the hope one has in Christ, especially during these stress-filled, fear-filled, and uncertain times.

MTC knows that well-trained people of faith are important during this time and into the future as small home groups meet, gatherings happen online, or Facebook conversations move along. If you also believe that is the case, take a look at the MTC courses being offered. MTC gives people the tools needed for God's Mission through training centered in the Bible and taught through the lenses of God's Mission. MTC partners with many LCMS districts to develop these important, creative, and innovative people.

Rev. Paul Mueller, PhD Missiology
Director – Mission Training Center (MTC)
PaulWMueller@gmail.com

Sonja Baumeister
Program Coordinator – Mission Training Center (MTC)
mtc@missiontrainingcenter.com

